

PAR - R

Exceptional pickup, designed and made to meet the most hi-quality demanded specifications using the latest generation of magnetic materials. The build-up and detailed construction of this pickup enables it to distinguish the distortion and noise from the available signal resulting in an exceptional relationship between S/N factor.

As with all our products we treated this one with the same importance of compact design, excellent quality of materials and simplification of all functions.

The extensive research during all steps of construction based on simulation and quality control guarantees the absence of distortion and noise.

The pickup has the potential of adjusting every single string in such a way that give us the ability to balance the strings according to our preference. Very easy to install.

This pickup has a mechanical adjustment screws control, and electronic adjustment with volume and tone controls.